Portrait of Bishop Arthur J. Moore, former president of Wesleyan, given to the college on Benefactors' Day, October 15, by an anonymous friend who greatly admires the Bishop. Vernon Layton of Sandersville painted the portrait, which hangs now in the President's Office at Wesleyan. The congregation of Sandersville Methodist Church gave the frame.

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

THE PRESIDENT REPORTS

N. C. McPherson, Jr.

There is to be published soon a booklet under the title: "Some Facts About the World's Oldest Chartered College for Women." Your president has traveled widely and talked with hundreds of the alumnae and friends of Wesleyan College during the past fifteen months and he is convinced there are a lot of facts that need to be more generally known about this grand old college. His report for this issue, therefore, may be thought of as a "Primer" about Wesleyan, that you may become an informed representative for your Alma Mater.

Wesleyan College was chartered by the State of Georgia, December 23, 1836. Her claim to being the oldest chartered college for women is well established. Today, Wesleyan has two beautiful campuses: one in the heart of Macon, with four professional schools, organized into the School of Fine Arts; the other six miles from Macon, on 170 acres with twelve Georgian type buildings, providing for the Liberal Arts College, is not surpassed for beauty or efficiency anywhere. The four professional schools include the Conservatory of Music, the School of Art, the School of Speech, and the College Secretarial School.

Every branch of Wesleyan College is accredited. Three degrees are offered by Wesleyan: the Bachelor of Music, the Bachelor of Fine Arts, and the Bachelor of Arts. A diploma is given for the two-year college secretarial course.

The buildings, furnishings and equipment of Wesleyan College are valued at $2,750,000.00. Wesleyan College has no indebtedness.

Wesleyan has an endowment of $450,000.00, and, in addition, receives an average of $4500.00 from the Methodist Church each year, which if capitalized is the equivalent of $150,000.00. This means that Wesleyan has the income from an endowment of $600,000.00.

You gave to the Alumnae Loyalty Fund last year more than $8,000.00 for scholarships to assist worthy, qualified students who could not have attended Wesleyan without your assistance. Counting those who were helped by you, those who (as the highest honor graduate of their high schools) received the Trustee Honor Scholarships of $200.00 each, those who were awarded one of the special scholarships provided by the Phi Delta Phi Honor Society and the Alpha Delta Pi and Mu Sororities, and those who earned a part of their expenses by their own work at Wesleyan, more than a third of our present student body is receiving financial assistance. "The Oldest and Best" is not a college for the daughters of the wealthy only but has always held as one of its great traditions that no worthy, qualified girl will be denied the privileges of Wesleyan merely because she needs financial assistance. The need for the Alumnae Loyalty Scholarships gifts will be great again this year.

Your president repeats: Wesleyan has the equivalent of an endowment of $600,000.00. It must be increased by at least $750,000.00 within the next twelve months. The trustee committee, under the direction of Mr. J. C. Malone, the vice-president and general manager of the Retail Credit Company of Atlanta, is working toward that end. Your alumnae officers meeting at Wesleyan September 18 decided to adopt as a special project the task of raising from the alumnae and friends of Wesleyan $200,000.00 of this larger amount to provide endowment for a Retirement Fund for the faculty of Wesleyan. This is the greatest need at the moment.

Many of the gifts to the endowment of Wesleyan will be conditioned upon the raising of the entire $750,000.00 additional endowment, thus every dollar and every War Bond given by an alumna will help the Alumnae to reach their goal of $200,000.00 and will also help to match the gift of some friend of the school. Your dollars will be multiplied at least three times! You are going to buy War Bonds. Why not buy them in the name of Wesleyan College and keep your dollars doing good for generation after generation?

The Federal Government and the various state governments will assist you in your desire to build this endowment at Wesleyan: if yours is a small income of say $3,000.00 for 1943, you can give up to $450.00 at a cost to you (after making the deduction from your income tax for the state and the federal governments) of not more than 75 per cent of that amount. If your income is $25,000.00, the income tax deductions will provide two-thirds of your gift up to $3,750.00. If you provide for Wesleyan in your will, your gift will not be taxed by any government, whereas your heirs would have to pay an estate tax.

Your president will be glad to advise with you about the best way to help Wesleyan at the least cost to you. Our governments through these tax deductions for gifts to Wesleyan College are recognizing the importance and necessity of supporting such institutions. At a time of much uncertainty, one thing is sure: the Christian education of women furnishes the greatest security for the future of America and the welfare of the world. Lay up for yourself a treasure that shall work for you in building Christian character down through the ages!

Cordially yours,

President.

NEW OFFICERS OF THE ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

Rosaline (Jenkins) Gilmore, President

A new slate of officers was elected shortly before commencement in May, and held the first meeting to plan the work of the Association in October on the Wesleyan campus at Rivoli.

Mrs. A. L. Gilmore (Rosaline Jenkins, 1919) of Thomaston, Ga., is the new president, succeeding Mrs. Harold C. McKenzie (Sue Tanner, 1918), whose three-year term of office expired this year. Rosaline has always been most active in the Alumnae Association, having served as national treasurer, as secretary of her class, and organizer of the Thomson Wesleyan Club when she was living in Thomson. Her husband is pastor of the Methodist Church in Thomaston and they have two children, a young son and a daughter, Rosaline, who has been planning to come to Wesleyan since she started kindergarten, and is now registered for next fall.

Mrs. W. R. Elsas (Eleanor McDonald, 1929) of Atlanta succeeds Mrs. W. C. Turpin (Edith Culpepper, 1917) as first vice-president in charge of class activities. Eleanor is much in demand as a musician in Atlanta, and her concert at Wesleyan last year was a highlight of the year.

Mrs. E. D. Rudisill, Jr. (Modena McPherson, 1933) succeeds Mrs. Alonzo Domingos (Lucia Chappell, 1919) as second vice-president in charge of Wesleyan clubs. Modena is the wife of the pastor of the Methodist Church in Milledgeville and the mother of Agnes Barden, 1890, of Macon succeeds Ann Maria Domingos, 1939, as third vice-president in charge of historical material. She recently retired from a successful career as elementary school supervisor of the Macon school system.

Mary Miller, 1924, Jacksonville, Florida, succeeds Sarah Jones, 1923, as fourth vice-president in charge of high school relations. Mary is a teacher in R. E. Lee High School in Jacksonville.

Mrs. Wallace Carpenter (Carolyn Malone, 1939) succeeds Mrs. A. L. Gilmore (Rosaline Jenkins, 1919) as treasurer. Carolyn moved from Macon to Atlanta this fall, where her husband has a position with the Georgia Trust Company. She has a little daughter, Lucy Carolyn, born this summer.

The three alumnae trustees are members of the Alumnae Council and meet with the officers to make plans for the alumnae work. They are this year: Mrs. McKibben Lane (Linda Anderson, 1919), Mrs. Mark Ethridge (Willie Snow, 1920), and Mrs. Harold C. McKenzie (Sue Tanner, 1918). Mrs. Charles C. Hinton (Alleen Poer, 1912) as a regular member of the Board is also on the Council.

THE 106TH SESSION BEGINS

The formal opening of Wesleyan this fall took place on Wednesday, September 15, at the George Foster Pierce Chapel on College street, Dr. Hal M. Davison, prominent Atlanta physician, speaker.

Matriculation of students began on Monday, September 13. Both at the college of liberal arts and the school of fine arts, Wesleyan welcomed the largest enrollment in many years. Dormitories on both campuses were filled to capacity, an additional floor of the old main building having been redecorated during the summer to house extra students, several rooms on the Rivoli campus not previously used as dormitory rooms put in readiness for girls.

Faculty Changes

Twenty new teachers and officials were added to the faculty this fall. They are:

Dr. Jane Dale of New York City, associate professor of chemistry and head of this department, Ph.D. from Columbia University, undergraduate work at Barnard, graduate work at Pratt Institute and the University of Wisconsin; has taught at Furman University, the University of California at Los Angeles, and at Columbia; has worked as nutritionist with the New York State Departments of Health and Education.

Dr. Ruth E. Thomas, head of new department of secretarial science, Ph. D. from the University of Chicago, has studied at the American Academy, Rome, Italy, has taught in Tennessee State Teachers' College and in the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Relis B. Brown of Williamsburg, Kentucky, assistant professor of biology, Ph.D. from Yale University, undergraduate work at Albion College in Michigan, teaching experience at DePauw University, Cumberland College, and Simpson College.

Mrs. Kathryn Brown, wife of Dr. Relis Brown, instructor in English and assistant librarian, A.B. from Manchester College, Indiana, B.S. in library science from the University of Illinois, has been assistant librarian at Albion and Manchester Colleges, has won considerable recognition as a poet.

Glover Harrell, business manager, succeeding Aaron Alley, resigned. Attended Mercer University, B.B.A. degree from Baylor University with cum laude honors and a major in accounting and finance. Has held positions with First National Bank in Macon, business office of Mary Hardin-Baylor College, assistant bank examiner FDIC, assistant manager of maritime relations division of Houston Shipbuilding Company in Texas. His wife was Carolyn Lawton, A.B. Wesleyan, 1933. They have one little daughter, Mary Elliott.

Howell Gwin, associate professor of journalism and English. Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Virginia, holds M.A. degree and has completed all work for the Ph.D. degree except his thesis. Has taught three years at Mississippi State College, four years at Northwestern University, nine years at Pace Institute in New York. Has had practical newspaper experience, having served on staff of The Atlanta Georgian and as headline writer and copy reader on The Brooklyn Citizen. Has a wife and two children, and has bought a home in Macon on Merritt Avenue.

Mrs. Nathalee T. Owens of Columbia, S. C., assistant professor of English in the place of Miss Louise Rivers who has been granted a year's leave of absence on account of illness. Miss Owens did her undergraduate work at Limestone College, holds the M.A. degree from the University of Chicago, has studied at Columbia and at the University of North Carolina, has had seven years teaching experience at the University of South Carolina.

M. H. Berry, assistant professor of chemistry, holds the A.B. degree from Peabody College, has completed most of his work for the M.A. degree from Columbia, has taught science in high schools in Georgia for the past ten years. He is married, and his wife is teaching in the Macon public school system.

Miss Yvonne Decker, associate professor of art, B.F.A. degree from Chicago Art Institute. Her home is in Chicago, where she has been for the past several years working in the field of commercial art, specializing in fashion illustration and design.

Miss Dorothy McGrath, instructor in piano, graduate of the American Conservatory, Chicago, pupil of Heniot Levy, Louise Robyn, and Weidig, winner of the Conservatory gold medal for piano playing in her graduating class, composer of children's music for the piano and widely known as a teacher of young students, for the past several years teacher of music in Miami, Fla.

Miss Amy Allen, instructor in speech, B.S. from Boston University, M. A. from University of Southern California, specializing in production and stage design; experience in teaching at the University of Texas.

Miss Rheua Hogan, instructor in music and orchestral instruments, A.B. and B.M. graduate of Western State College of Colorado with majors in music and theory of music, teaching experience in Colorado and Iowa.

Mrs. Norma Hobgood of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, director of physical education at Wesleyan school of fine arts; B.S. and M.S. degrees from Louisiana State University, experience as supervisor for N.Y.A. recreation and playground programs and as director of physical education at Jones County Junior College in Mississippi.

Miss Sara Garner, assistant dietitian. She did her major work in the Institute of Dietetics at G.S.C.W., and was assistant in the cafeteria there.

Miss Sara Ivey, Wesleyan Conservatory graduate of 1931, instructor in the department of speech. Graduate of Andrew College, A.B. degree from Duke, M.A. degree from L.S.U., has studied at Emory and at Northwestern, has taught for the past ten years in high schools in Georgia.

Miss Jane Shearouse, A.B. from Wesleyan in 1943, assistant to the counsellor of women. She was student assistant in this department before her graduation.

Miss Alice Burrowes, magna cum laude graduate of Wesleyan in 1942, assistant librarian. She was voted one of the "superlatives" in her class, was elected to membership in Phi Delta Phi. Since graduation she has taught an Landon High School in Jacksonville, Fla., and has studied at Emory Library School.

Mrs. Guy Taylor came to Wesleyan as bookkeeper shortly before the close of the past college year in the place of Miss Mary Lou Barton, resigned. Mrs. Taylor has worked for a number of years at the University of Georgia, first as assistant in the registrar's and treasurer's offices, and later as assistant treasurer. She is the daughter of a Wesleyan alumna, Kattie (Jewett) Williams of the class of 1875.

Miss Martha Ryals, assistant in the business office, formerly in the office of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company, Macon.

Mrs. Phil Adams, wife of Major Adams of Camp Wheeler, instructor in physical education in the place of Mrs. Caroline Mallary Ivy, resigned. B.S. in P.E. from the University of Georgia, for four years teacher of physical education at Miller High School in Macon, member of Macon Junior League, active in Red Cross work, has taken staff assistant's course recently.

MADAME KUNG SENDS GIFT TO HER ALMA MATER

Eling (Soong) Kung's Gift to Wesleyan

On September 10 there came to Wesleyan a cablegram from Chungking, China, as follows:

"Please convey to my dear classmate my deep appreciation of her loyalty and friendship. Am greatly touched that they should honor me by giving a scholarship in my name. Am sending Wesleyan ten thousand dollars to be called the Guerrey Foundation, the interest of which is to be used to aid any deserving student Mrs. Guerrey or her appointee may designate. Affectionately, Eling Soong Kung."

A few days later the check arrived through the Bank of China in New York. Already Dr. N. C. McPherson, Jr., president of Wesleyan, is in touch with authorities who plan to bring to Wesleyan for the next semester a Chinese girl who has been studying in one of the Methodist schools in that country, as the first student to come to Wesleyan on the Guerrey Memorial Scholarship.

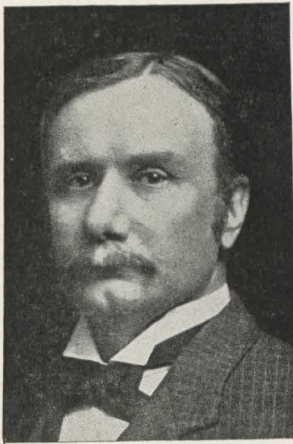

Madame Kung is the eldest of the three Soong sisters, a graduate of Wesleyan in the class of 1909. Her classmate, Annie (Turner) Hightower of Thomaston and her husband gave to Wesleyan a full scholarship named in honor of Madame Kung, and this was announced at the time that Madame Chiang, the youngest Soong sister, was at Wesleyan in June.

This is the second time that Madame Kung has given money to Wesleyan for scholarships in memory of the president who won her lasting admiration when she was a student at the college. In March, 1935, shortly after she herself visited Wesleyan, she sent the sum of $1,000 as a nucleus for a fund in memory of Judge Guerrey.

This new gift establishing The Guerrey Foundation honors Mrs. Guerrey as well as her husband. Mme. Kung sent the cables announcing it upon Mrs. Guerrey's ninetieth birthday "as a token of my affection and my appreciation of what you and Mr. Guerrey meant to me as a Wesleyan student." The arrival of the cable found Mrs. Guerrey celebrating "this auspicious day" among four generations of her family at the home of her son Dupont Guerrey, Jr., and his wife in Greenville, S. C., Dupont Guerrey III, his wife, and their two-year-old son, Dupont IV, of New York having joined her there for a visit. Dupont III is completing his training as a specialist at the Presbyterian Hospital after having won the awards of the medical scientists for his research and discoveries in the use of vitamin K.

Mrs. Guerrey's second son, Davenport,

President Guerry

Sr., has one child, Davenport Guerry, Jr., who is at Vanderbilt University teaching mathematics to the air corps and completing his doctorate in chemistry upon a fellowship which he won for distinction in scholarship.

Clara (Guerry) Kinney, 1900, the daughter with whom Mrs. Guerry makes her home in Macon, has two sons serving in this war who are also veterans of the first world war, Major Dupont Guerry Kinney, post signal officer at the Lincoln Neb., Air Base, and Capt. Wm. O. Kinney, Jr., with the air corps at Jefferson Barracks, Mo. In Mrs. Kinney's home, also, is her only daughter, Clara (Kinney) Stribling, 1928, who is doing war-work at the U.S.O. in Macon, and her three children. Mrs. Kinney has two other sons, Francis in business in Macon, and Frederick with the State Prison Commission in Atlanta.

Mrs. Guerry's other daughter, Rosa (Guerry) Snowden, 1897, has two sons in the armed forces, Dupont Snowden at the battlefield overseas in the ambulance corps, and Guerry Snowden who interrupted his study of law to join the air corps. One other son is in business on the west coast as is a son-in-law, Fitzhugh White, husband of Rosa, Jr., in California. Mrs. Snowden lives in Rochester, N. Y., to be near her daughter, Virginia, now Mrs. Charles Finnigan.

Mary (Guerry) Sharp, A.B. '38, only daughter of Dupont, Jr., lives in Abington, Conn., and has two children, Guerry, a daughter, and Carl III, born November the second.

Mrs. Guerry's mother, Mary Elizabeth Frederick, was among the early students to attend Wesleyan after it opened its doors as the first chartered college for women.

It is most fitting that the Guerry Foundation will perpetuate at Wesleyan the names and memories of President and Mrs. Dupont Guerry, and that each year some student will benefit as the recipient of the scholarship in their honor established through the appreciation and generosity of their former student, E-ling (Soong) Kung.

The Methodist laymen of South Georgia are at present in the midst of a campaign to raise $20,000 to establish a fund for a full scholarship each year at Wesleyan for some Chinese student in honor of Madame Chiang.

The class of 1913, of which the middle Soong sister, Chung-ling (now Madame Sun Yat Sen) was a member, is giving a full tuition scholarship in her honor.

2. Wesleyan promises to hold the bonds until after the war or longer. Thus they will serve their patriotic purpose and help your Alma Mater at the same time.

Report to Date

In addition to the $1,000 bond, the Alumnae Association has received bonds in smaller denominations and war stamps from the following alumnae:

Ida (Mangham) Coleman, 1890
Eloise Pickett, 1898
Woodie (Schley) Campbell, 1905
Newell Mason, 1908
Jennie Loyall, 1912
Carrie Lee Waddell, 1912
Theodora (Atkinson) Cobb, 1914
Kathleen (Holder) Griffin, 1914
Mary Alice (Strange) Daniel, 1917
Jeannie K. Jewell, 1922
Ruth Field, 1923
Evelyn Hatcher, 1923
Eunice Thomson, 1925
Elizabeth Winn, 1925
Lucile Barco, 1927
Martha Watts, 1928
Clifford Clark, 1929
Virginia McElroy, 1934
Virginia (Scott) Estes, 1937
Sara (Griffin) Mills, 1939
Margaret Cobb, 1941
Rebecca (Griffin) Barton, 1942
Margaret Sullivan, 1943
Sarah Ann White, 1943.

Bonds may be given in memory of or in honor of any teacher of the Wesleyan faculty, past or present. Bonds have been given in memory of: Prof. J. C. Hinton, Mrs. M. M. Burks, and Dean Leon P. Smith, Dr. C. R. Jenkins; and in honor of: Mrs. Florrie Cook White, Mrs. Glenn Priest Maerz, Miss Louise Lin, Miss Maude Chaplin, Miss M. Virginia Garner, Dr. Iris L. Whitman, Dr. Jane E. Wolf, Miss Christine Broome, Miss Ernestine Grote, Miss Rosetta Rivers, and Dr. G. Warren Gignilliat, Prof. Joseph Maerz, Dr. G. E. Rosser.

ALUMNAE GIVE WAR BONDS FOR TEACHER RETIREMENT FUND

Wesleyan alumnae are making their war bonds do double duty—to help their country and to help their Alma Mater build up a Retirement Endowment Fund for teachers.

The first $1,000 bond has come in for the fund from Willie (Snow) Ethridge, alumnae trustee and class secretary of the class of 1920. This gift comes in addition to the $50 scholarship gift which Willie made to the Loyalty Fund in the spring, and is just one of many evidences of her loyalty to the college.

Other gifts of war bonds and war stamps are coming in every mail, and it is not too late for every Wesleyan alumna to have a part in this project—the providing of adequate pensions for Wesleyan teachers who have given many years of faithful service to the institution.

Council Decides on Bond Drive

Shortly after the opening of Wesleyan the Alumnae Council met on the Rivoli campus with Rosaline (Jenkins) Gilmore, new president, in charge. After discussing various needs of the college they decided to ask the alumnae to launch the Retirement Endowment Fund by giving War Bonds for this purpose. A letter went out on September 21 over the signature of all those present at the meeting telling of the plan.

Here it is:

1. Buy War Bonds in the name of "Wesleyan College, a corporation of Macon, Georgia." Or if you cannot buy a bond, send to the college war stamps in any amount.

RETURNING FROM JAPANESE PRISONS

Mary Culler White, A.B. 1891, for many years a missionary to China, and for the past two years a prisoner of the Japanese, is returning to America aboard the liner Gripsholm, expected to arrive in December.

Also on the Gripsholm is the Rev. W. B. Burke, husband of Leila (Gerdine) Burke, '96, of Macon. The Rev. Burke has been for 56 years a missionary to China; and is the subject of a biography by his son, James, which was published last year by Farrar and Rinehart, "My Father in China".

MANAGING EDITOR OF VOGUE SPEAKS AT WESLEYAN

Jessica Daves

The August 15 issue of VOGUE carried an article entitled "File for the Future" with this editorial note:

"Jessica Daves, Vogue's Managing Editor, recently made the Commencement address to the graduating class at Wesleyan College, at Macon, Georgia. She spoke as a Georgian whose mother and grandmother had been Wesleyan students, and whose grandfather was the first president of Georgia's great School of Technology. Here is part of what she said—and it is just as important today to freshmen entering colleges all over America."

Addressing the graduates as a group who have been favored with the best the world has to offer, peace and plenty, leisure to learn and to grow and be beautiful, she bade them take care to render these benefits again to America and the world, listing some of the very definite ways in which they, as educated women, might be of service.

Miss Daves, who is in private life Mrs. Robert Allerton Parker of New York, was warmly welcomed "home", both in Macon and in Cartersville, her old home. Her mother, mentioned in Vogue's editorial note, was the late Annie Hopkins, secretary of the Wesleyan class of 1881, who was awarded the honorary Doctor of Pedagogy by the University of Georgia in 1930; her grandmother was Mary Hinton, salutatorian of the class of 1868; her grandfather was the famed Dr. Isaac Hopkins of Emory and Georgia Tech. Miss Daves has a niece, Mary Pittman, in the Wesleyan freshman class this year.

When she and her Wesleyan friend, Willie Snow Ethridge, were lunching together in Macon during the summer, Lillie said, "I reviewed your book 48 times before groups in Salem and all the surrounding towns. I reached the place where I had to stop or I would never want to hear of you and the Roommate and Mark, Jr., and 'Shug' and Georgia again! But I made enough on that one book to pay my Wesleyan pledge in full."

HOBBY DEVELOPS INTO A BUSINESS

Lillie (Bass) Byers, A.B. '18, came all the way from Salem, Ohio, to Macon for Madame Chiang's visit to the college,—came, in fact, some days ahead and visited relatives while everybody waited for definite news about Madame's coming. The pleasure of seeing and hearing the First Lady of China was quite worth such a long trip for anyone, but Lillie had an especial reason for wanting to be present. She had appeared on the programs of many clubs with her talk on "A Song of the Soongs," which combined a review of Emily Hahn's book, "The Soong Sisters", and Lillie's own addition of personal reminiscences gleaned from members of her family who knew the three famous Chinese sisters at Wesleyan. (Lillie is a niece of Minnie Bass Burden of Macon.)

Lillie began her career as a reviewer of books quite unwittingly several years ago when she gave a review of Willie Snow Ethridge's "As I Live and Breathe". Departing from the routine book review, she spoke in the first person, giving a dramatic touch which delighted her listeners, and making the author and all the characters live before them.

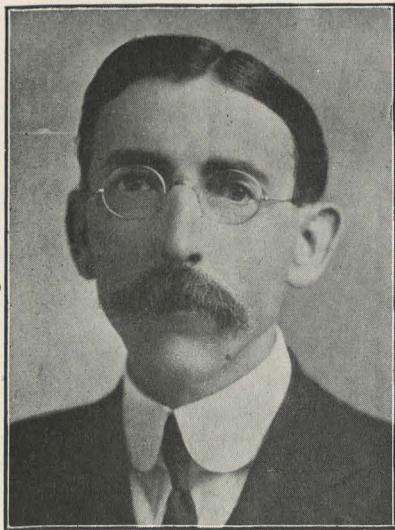

Lillie's hobby has grown until it has reached the place where most people would consider themselves professionals and hire a manager. Her husband, Dr. Guy E. Byers, prominent physician and surgeon, and her children, Mary, Billy, and David, have been greatly interested in her career and cooperate to help her meet the demands of her "public."

Mary, the only daughter, at first helped with the housekeeping, and later was asked by the clubs to do some of the book reviewing herself. Mary is this year a freshman at Wesleyan. She graduated very near the top of a large high school class, and was editor of the school weekly, editor of the annual, member of the national Thespian Society, and winner of three prizes for short stories.

FORMER WESLEYAN PRESIDENT DIES

Dr. C. R. Jenkins

Dr. Charles Rush Jenkins, 71, president of Wesleyan College from 1912 to 1920, died at his home near Baxley, Ga., on May 12.

He was the son of Daniel Jenkins and Annie E. (Rush) Jenkins, who came to Wesleyan in 1859. He was one of six brothers who became prominent ministers in the Methodist Church. His wife, the former Beulah Hall of Alabama, studied art at the college. His niece, Rosaline (Jenkins) Gilmore, A.B. 1919, is national president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association, and his great-niece, Rosaline Gilmore, is registered for next year's freshman class.

Dr. Jenkins was graduated from Emory with Phi Beta Kappa honors. He was ordained a minister of the South Georgia Conference in 1900, and came to Wesleyan in 1904 as professor of Bible, staying until 1908 when he was elected a trustee and returned to the pastorate. In 1910 he returned to Wesleyan as vice president, and in 1912 assumed the presidency, succeeding Dr. W. N. Ainsworth, later Bishop of the Methodist Church.

During his administration Wesleyan was admitted to the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States and to the Association of American Colleges. He was president when the late E. T. Comer gave $50,000 to the college to set up the Catherine L. Comer Loan Fund.

No president of Wesleyan has inspired more affection in his students and co-workers than Dr. Jenkins whose nobility of character, keen intellect, and gentleness of spirit were apparent to all who knew him. His love for the college was warm and sincere, and often expressed. Only a few months before his death, having been notified that Wesleyan would confer honorary degrees upon the three Soong sisters, all of whom were at Wesleyan while he was teacher or president, he wrote:

"Mrs. Jenkins and I are always delighted to have a visit to the college, and to meet there the world-great woman of China would give us immeasurable pleasure. If you hear she is coming, please wire us and we will come if at all possible. We are glad to hear that Wesleyan will confer honorary degrees upon each of the sisters. They were all brilliant. E-ling taught me a lot of excellent psychology when she was in my class.

"I am hearing fine reports of Dr. McPherson's administration. There is not another man in Georgia Methodism more interested in his success than I. There is not another who loves the old college with deeper affection."

Dr. Jenkins is survived by his wife and three children, two sons, Alfred Lesesne Jenkins, now with the U.S. Army stationed in Illinois; Phillip Marshall Jenkins of Baxley; and a daughter, Nona (Patterson) Griffith, A.B. '20, of Chicago.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE NEW GIRLS

More than 300 new girls entered Wesleyan college and school of fine arts this year, the largest number of new girls in 15 years!

Twenty-two different states are represented, not only all the southern states, but such distant ones as New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Connecticut, Arkansas, and Washington, D. C.

Fifty of the girls are honor graduates of their high schools, and were awarded the $200 scholarships which Wesleyan gives to first honor graduates, or top ranking girls in large classes.

It is interesting that 27 Macon girls are boarders on the campus, 34 are day students.

There are 75 girls at Wesleyan this year from Atlanta and Decatur.

Their Families

Three of the new girls represent the fourth generation of their families to come to Wesleyan; Georgann Dessau and Martha Worsham of Macon, and Adelaide second class. Georgann's great-grandmother was a sister of Catherine (Brewer) Benson, Wesleyan's first graduate, and herself was a graduate in the second class. Georgann's great-grandmother graduated in 1845, and among the treasured books in the Wesleyan library is an old bound volume of "The Southern Ladies' Book" which once belonged to her, and which was given to the college by her daughter, Georgann's grandmother.

Martha is a great niece of the late William Rokenbaugh Rogers, for many years a beloved trustee of Wesleyan, and she was awarded a Wesleyan scholarship established by the Board of Trustees for her at the time of "Mr. Rok's" death when she was a little girl.

Mary Ainsworth is a granddaughter of the late President William N. Ainsworth of Wesleyan, and of Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth, 1891, formerly national president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association.

Marilyn Matthews is a granddaughter of the late Orville A. Park, trustee of Wesleyan and donor of the valuable collection of Georgiana in the Wesleyan library, and also granddaughter of the late Robert J. Taylor, trustee, whose negotiations with Wesleyan's bondholders resulted in a settlement which saved the college during the most critical period of its history. The science building is named in memory of Mr. Taylor, the Georgia Room in the library in memory of Mr. Park.

Five girls represent the third generation of their families at Wesleyan, Eva Heath, Marilyn Matthews, Eugenia Etheridge, Mary Pittman, and Katharine Smith.

Marjorie Key, daughter of Marjorie (Gugel) Key, is a great-great-niece of Elizabeth Ann (Hardeman) Griswold, a graduate of the first Wesleyan class of 1840. A cousin, Elizabeth (Pitts) Anderson, was one of the earliest members of the Philomathean Society, and her pin, dated 1853, was recently given to Wesleyan by her daughter, Annie Blount Anderson of Monticello.

Miriam Chylinski of Detroit, Michigan, summa cum laude graduate of her high school and for the past two years a student at Wayne University in Detroit, wrote before she came to Wesleyan:

"Maybe you wonder why I would like so much to come to Wesleyan. My mother's family were from Georgia and although they moved away when she was a little girl, stories of Macon still remain. My great-grandmother, Mary Clarke (later Mrs. Luther Warren) taught at Wesleyan just after the war of the Sixties."

Eugenia Etheridge, transfer from Barnard College, is a great-great-niece of Catherine (Drewry) Comer, in whose memory the Comer Loan Fund was given by her son to Wesleyan.

Wesleyan alumnae of many years will be interested in the fact that one of the new Macon girls boarding on the Rivoli campus is Jeannette Chichester, daughter of the owner of the College Hill Pharmacy. Jeannette took the Wesleyan competitiveness in the spring, making one of the highest records, and was awarded one of the Macon Club Scholarships given each year to Miller High School girls.

Betty Ramsey of Atlanta is the daughter of Ralph T. Ramsey, secretary of the Georgia Education Association and a former trustee of Wesleyan College.

The Phi Delta Phi Scholarship

The second annual $100 scholarship given by the Phi Delta Phi Honor Society at Wesleyan was awarded to Mary Jean Franklin of Anderson, Indiana, daughter of the Rev. Benjamin Harrison Franklin, Methodist minister.

Mary is a graduate of Hartford City, Indiana High School, and had a four-year average of 93.3. Her superintendent wrote of her:

"On the Myers-Ruch High School Progress Test she made a splendid record, and this is a difficult test covering the four years of high school. On the Lapp Engineering and Physics Aptitude test she made one of the best scores made by any girl in the senior class.

"She has a great deal of social poise and emotional balance. She has been an excellent student leader in high school, having taken part in dramatics and class activities to a marked degree. She is industrious, dependable and trustworthy. I know of no more deserving student."

Joan Tomlinson of Lakeland, Florida, who was awarded the Phi Delta Phi Scholarship last year, made semester honors in her academic work both semesters of 1942-43, and is back at Wesleyan this year as a sophomore.

Phi Delta Phi Chapel Program

In October the Society sponsored its

New Girls Whose Mothers or Grandmothers Came to Wesleyan

Just back of the triangle are four girls whose heads form a semi-circle, and these are: Mary Ainsworth, Mary White, Betty Ann McDonald, Betty Thompson.

Just back of this group, beginning with the girl in the black sweater, second from the left, is a group who form a sort of half-circle. These are Margaret Woods, Katharine Smith, Winnifred Kirkland, Marjorie Peavy, Eva Heath, Tommit Daniel, Euarine Smith, Winnifred Kirkland, Marjorie Perry, Eva Heath, Tommie Daniel, Carolyn Disbro, Eugenia Corley, Sarah A. Garrison, Martha Worsham.

At the extreme left, reading up and across: Helen Walker, Eugenia Etheridge, Marjorie Key, Marilyn Mathews, Cathryn Bowen, Julee Struby, Georgann Dessau, Catherine Willingham, Jane Anne Mallet.

Absent when the picture was made: Elizabeth Davidson, Mary Dennard, Marjorie Sanders, Betty Roper.

Alumnae Scholarships

Following is a list of the specially named alumnae scholarships, with the names of students who hold them. In addition to these the general Alumnae Scholarship Fund, made up of the gifts of many alumnae, helped many other Wesleyan girls this fall, both liberal arts and fine arts students.

The Chung-ling Soong Sun and May-ling Soong Chiang Scholarships are being held until next semester, when we expect to have two Chinese students at Wesleyan on these scholarships. The former is given by the class of 1913, the latter by the laymen of the South Georgia Methodist Conference.

BOOK BY WESLEYAN ALUMNA SELECTED BY JUNIOR LITERARY GUILD

Rebecca (Caudill) Ayars

"Barrie and Daughter", the story of an exciting childhood in Kentucky, by Rebecca (Caudill) Ayars, A.B. 1920, was selected by the Junior Literary Guild as their September selection for older girls.

The Guild's publication, "Young Wings", carries a review of the book, some of the illustrations by Berkeley Williams for it, and something about the author. The book is published by The Viking Press.

Rebecca says that the story grew out of her recollections of certain events that took place during her own childhood, and the reactions of her mother and father during them.

"As a child I frequently fished in, and was fished out of, the Poor Fork River," she writes. "At the age of three I started to school, but did most of my learning at home out of the Louisville Courier-Journal under the tutelage of my mother and father and older sister. School lasted three, or in good years, four months. But soon as it closed, my mother organized the Caudill tribe of nine into school at home and proceeded according to schedule from there on out to corn-planing time.

"I finished my growing up in Tennessee. I was graduated from Sumner County High School, Portland, Tenn., as valedictorian. From there I went to Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia. I was awarded a fellowship to Vanderbilt University and took my master's degree in international relations. The following two years I taught English in a Brazilian girls' school in Rio de Janeiro and after that edited a girls' magazine.

"My home is in Urbana, Illinois. My husband is the technical editor for the Illinois Natural History Survey, and I have a son of ten and a daughter of eight. I love books, and I like to write. 'Barrie and Daughter' is my first book."

PROFESSOR QUILLIAN RETIRES

Professor Quillian in the Laboratory

Professor Marvin Clarke Quillian has resigned as head of the biology department after 37 years as a member of the Wesleyan faculty.

It was planned last spring that Professor Quillian should retain the emeritus relationship on the faculty, doing some teaching this year. During the summer, following an accident which his wife suffered on their vacation in Texas, he decided to resign. Mrs. Quillian's health is improving, and the Quillians have returned recently to their home at 418 Ridge Avenue, Macon.

Marvin C. Quillian graduated with honors at Emory in 1895, and received the M.A. degree from Vanderbilt in 1900. He studied at Georgia State Normal School, at the University of Chicago, Columbia University, and New York University. He holds the C.L.S.C. diploma from Chautauqua Institution.

Charter member of the Association of American Biologists, fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, fellow of the American Geographical Society, member of many other scientific organizations, contributor of articles to newspapers and scientific magazines, Professor Quillian is one of those happy persons whose greatest joy was in the field of his work.

His wife, the former Carrie L. Brown, has a whole-hearted interest in the things

SON OF FIRST GRADUATE DIES

Frank Cook Benson, son of Catherine (Brewer) Benson, Wesleyan's first graduate, and Richard Aaron Benson, died at his home in Macon on October 15.

Until just a few weeks before his death at the age of 85, Mr. Benson was in remarkably good health. He was tax assessor of Bibb County, was vice-president of the Board of Trustees for Indian Springs Camp Ground, and was chairman of the Board of Trustees of Cherokee Heights Methodist Church.

Mr. Benson and his wife were keenly interested in every Wesleyan affair, and were often honor guests on special Wesleyan occasions. They celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary last year.

Mr. Benson spent his entire life in Macon, and his mother made her home with him until her death in 1908 at the age of 86. Of Catherine (Brewer) Benson's ten children only one is still living, a daughter, Gertrude (Benson) Arnall, Wesleyan graduate in the class of 1881.

which interest her husband. She helped him, unofficially, with many phases of his work, and together they are accustomed to taking delightful trips in the summer to points of geological and biological interest, as excited as two children on a lark when they find some unusual wild flower or bird.

Professor Quillian organized the biology department at Wesleyan, and gave for the first time at the college standard courses with laboratory work in cryptogamic botany, entomology, embryology, zoology, histology, bacteriology, ornithology, genetics and eugenics. It was he who drew the plans for the biology department on the new Wesleyan campus at Rivoli in the 1920's, and originated the adjustable side-wall cabinet tables now in use in the laboratories.

One of the freshmen said last year of Prof. Quillian: "His eyes shine and his whole face lights up when he talks about the nervous system of a frog or muscles of a grasshopper." She did not realize that she was making one of the most complimentary remarks one can make of a teacher. Although sometimes he may miss his classroom and his students and will be missed at Wesleyan, Professor Quillian will never be unhappy as long as there is a stream to wade, or a field and a forest to wander through!
